

THE 30-MINUTE QBR

THREE SLIDES. THAT'S IT.

The whole structure. Nothing extra.

01 The customer's goal

Anchor the room in the outcome that matters and how the last three months aligned to it.

CUSTOMER'S STATED GOAL

HOW THE QUARTER ALIGNED, DRIFTED, OR CHANGED

CONTEXT THE ROOM NEEDS

02 What was achieved

Show what moved. Keep the evidence close to the outcome instead of presenting activity.

OUTCOME ACHIEVED

EVIDENCE

WHAT DID NOT MOVE AND WHY

03 What happens next

End on the next priority or decision, with a clear owner and the support required.

NEXT PRIORITY OR DECISION

OWNER AND DATE

WHERE SUPPORT IS NEEDED

THIRTY MINUTES. ONE USEFUL DECISION.

Move through the three slides in order. Keep the conversation tied to the customer's goal, not your internal activity.

01 Before the meeting

Fill the three slides with what is known. Remove the status pages, product tour, and internal detail that the room does not need.

02 In the meeting

Use the slides to have the conversation. If the goal changed, say it. If an outcome did not move, make that visible.

03 Before anyone leaves

Name the next priority or decision, the owner, the date, and where support is needed.

THE FINISH LINE

A useful QBR ends with a clear next move. If there is no decision, owner, date, or support request, the meeting is not finished.
